

PRESS RELEASE

Successful closure of the 1st FXstreet.com International Traders Conference (ITC)

The first Forex Conference organized by FXstreet.com welcomed a total of about 50 people in Barcelona between Oct. 25th and 27th 2007. According to attendees and speakers, the event was a great trading and human experience.

FXstreet.com, the leading independent portal dedicated to the Foreign Exchange (Forex) market, took up the challenge of holding its first conference in Barcelona. Speakers were international recognized experts of the Forex Market:

- Rob Booker (Currency Analyst at Piptopia) coached the audience with his tips about how to create a trading plan and trading for a living
- Nicole Elliott (Senior Technical Analyst at Mizuho Corporate Bank) explained the practical application of Japanese Ichimoku Kinko Hyo Method
- Andrew Hart (Currency Analyst at Commerzbank) presented the Directional Movement Index (DMI) indicator
- Tony Juste (FX Advisor at Fxstreet.com) discussed another money management technique to think of
- Wayne McDonell (Analyst at FXBootcamp) commented his Strategic and Tacticle Trade Planning and how to scalp, spot, swing and carry trade
- Ron Schelling (Owner/Trader at 2Hedge) introduced Arbitrage, a little-known trading action
- Joseph Trevisani (Chief Market Analyst at FX Solutions) commented the Direction of the USD in the Medium and Long-Term

During three intensive days, experts shared their tips, experiences and insights in a very interactive context. The schedule was divided in different types of sessions: Key Note Speech, Working Session (practical part), Live Trading and Round table.

The event's conclusions are:

- Learning experience: all attendees went back home with a lot of solid information. Beginners and advanced traders all learnt something which will improve their trading.
- Human experience: the relative small size of the event created a very direct and interactive contact among attendees and among attendees and experts. The ITC has been underlined by all as an unforgettable human experience.
- International audience: the ITC welcomed traders from around the world (UK, Spain, USA, Portugal, Dubai, Greece, Cyprus...). This also generated a very interesting group of people from very different cultures and prospects.
- Live Trading: Attendees generally appreciated FXstreet.com's innovative idea of live trading sessions. During two afternoons, experts led groups of 8/10 traders. They coached them about how analysing markets and why taking a trade (or not) etc. This was a very original idea and, even if the model surely needs to be improved, FXstreet.com is definitely keen to repeat it in the future.

In view of the positive results of the first ITC, FXstreet.com staff has decided to organize at least another event in 2008. The place and model still need to be decided. An image coverage of the event can be seen on FXstreet.com CEO's blog: http://weblog.fxstreet.com/itc_2007/index.html. Some videos will soon be available on the ITC website: www.traders-conference.com.
